Tour Descriptions

Historical City Tour Half day

Driver & Professional Guide

If you want to explore Moscow, you should start from the very center, which is Red Square, see all sites nearby such as Kremlin and its main Spasskaya tower with the huge clock in the middle; St. Basil Cathedral and the G.U.M department store covering most of the east side of the Red Square. You should visit Vorobiev (Sparrow) Hills and admire magnificent birds' eye view of Moscow.

Kremlin Territory, Cathedrals & Armory Chamber Half day

Driver & Professional Guide

The Moscow Kremlin is a symbol of Russia and one of the largest architectural productions in the world. It has one of the richest treasuries of historical relics and monuments of culture and art. The Armory Chamber, a treasure-house, displays precious items preserved in the tsars' treasury and the Patriarch's vestry, including exhibits made in the Kremlin's workshops as well as ambassadorial gifts. Among other things one can find: ancient state regalia, ceremonial tsar's vestments and coronation dress, vestments of the Russian Orthodox Church's hierarchs, the largest collection of gold and silverware by Russian craftsmen etc.

St. Basil Cathedral & Red Square Half day

Driver & Professional Guide

Red Square remains, as it has been for centuries, the heart and soul of Russia. Few places in the world bear the weight of history to the extent that Moscow's central square does. From the 16th Century St. Basil's Cathedral - one of the most famous pieces of architecture in the world - to the constructivist pyramid of Lenin's Mausoleum, Red Square is rich in symbols of Russia's turbulent and intriguing past. Every capital has a well-known landmark making it easily recognizable. In Moscow, the Cathedral of the Protecting Veil of the Mother of God, better known as the Cathedral of St. Vasily the Blessed (or St. Basil Cathedral, as it is often called in English), standing in Red Square is such a landmark.

The Tretyakov Art Gallery Half day

Driver & Professional Guide

The State Tretyakov Gallery is the national treasury of Russian fine art and one of the greatest museums in the world. It was first opened as a private museum in 1874. The museum consists entirely of Russian art by Russian artists. Founded in 1856, today it is comprised of more than 130,000 icons, paintings, sculptures and graphics ranging from the 11th to the early 20th century and modern art.

Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts Half day

Driver & Professional Guide

The Pushkin Museum of Fine Arts is located in the old part of Moscow, near the Kremlin, on Volkhonka Street. It was established in the late 19th century using pieces from the collections of the Cabinet of Fine Arts and Antiquities in the Moscow University. Today, the museum comprises about 5 000 paintings, 350 000 drawings and engravings, 100 000 coins and medals as well as numerous sculptures, manuscripts and other art objects. The permanent exhibition includes three main sections: the classics of Ancient Egypt, Greece, Rome, Italy and the Northern Black Sea Coast; famous medieval and renaissance sculptures and works of Western European painting and sculpture dating back from the Middle Ages to the present time.

Red Square, Christ the Saviour Cathedral & Arbat Street Half day

Red Square remains, as it has been for centuries, the heart and soul of Russia. Few places in the world bear the weight of history to the extent that Moscow's central square does. Saint Saviour Cathedral situated on the left bank of the Moskva River on the site of the former Alexeyev Monastery, the cathedral of Our Christ the Saviour was founded in 1839 and its construction went on for 40 years. Arbat is pedestrian street in the center of Moscow. In the 19th century Arbat was a favorite neighborhood for Moscow's nobility and creative intelligentsia, it was believed to number one noble for every seven ordinary residents. Over the years the street has developed into one of the most popular places in Moscow, you may meet here dancers, street artists, Krishna supporters, get into multiple smart clothes and souvenir shops, cafes, cultural centers, etc.

Red Square and Boat Tour Half day

Red Square remains, as it has been for centuries, the heart and soul of Russia. Few places in the world bear the weight of history to the extent that Moscow's central square does. From the 16th Century St. Basil's Cathedral - one of the most famous pieces of architecture in the world - to the constructivist pyramid of Lenin's Mausoleum, Red Square is rich in symbols of Russia's turbulent and intriguing past. One of the best ways to explore Moscow is by boat. While Moscow is not known for its waterways, the Moscow River intersects the heart of the city. During the summer you can take a boat excursion from one end of the city to the other and along the way see some really stunning sights.
